Circuit Attorney Orders Arrest of Three Keepers After Investigation of Syndicate.

Capt. Johnson Says He'll File Charges if His Men Have Protected Games.

The grand jury, under the direction of Circuit Attorney Harvey, today issued wholesale subpenas calling in witnesse to wide-open gambling among negroes in the Laclade Avenue Police District, in which, it is alleged, a gambling syndicate has been paying a politician for police protection

Simultaneously the Circuit Attorney ordered the arrest of 15 negroes, including the keepers of three of the gambling establishments. This order was base upon the Circuit Attorney's belief that evidence, already presented to the grand jury, justified the arrests. The favorite games are craps, poke and blackjack. The last named is a card game similar to twenty-one of seven and a half, and it is particular! remunerative in rake-offs to the house. A Post-Dispatch reporter learned to in the Probate Court and from the records of the Assessor's office. The estates investigated were those of persons who have died within the last two years.

Inventories of 49 Estates in Probate Court Show That Owners Escaped Taxation on $8,798,787 Worth of Personal Property

The figures show at a glance the extent to which taxation is escaped in St. Louis. Out of a total of $10,528,914.23 of taxable personal property, par value, as shown by the inventories of the 49 estates, only $2,012,990 was returned for taxation, and more than half of this sum by one man. Personal property of par value of $8,798,787.67 is shown by the records to have escaped taxation, resulting in a loss of more than $200,000 in annual revenue to the city.

Eliminating the unusual tax return of James Campbell-unusual because it was only during the last two or three years of his life that he returned any considerable portion of his personal property for taxation-it will be seen that out of approximately $10,000,000 of taxable personal property in these estates, less than $1,000,000 was returned for taxation, and three-fourths of this amount was by Adolphus Busch and Mrs. Eliza A. How, Busch listing about one-seventh, and Mrs. How about one-fourth, of their taxable personal property. Here is the list which tells its own story:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 22.-Thomas Taggart, Democratic national committemtn for Indiana; Joseph E. Bell. Mayor of Indianapolis: Samuel V. Perrott, Chief of Police, and 125 others were indicted by the Marion County grand jury here today, charged with conspir acy to commit a felony through viola tion of election laws, bribery and blackmail. Taggart and Bell were the first to acknowledge service and were released on bail of $5000 each. The indictment created a sensation While it had been rumored for some time that a number of men were to be indicted in connection with the last election it was not thought men so high in political circles would be included. Not more than a dozen spectators were in court when the grand jurors submitted their report.

More than a dozen members of Mayor Bell's official family were indicted and as many more members of the police force were named. The others included leaders, workers at the polls and voters

TAXATION EACH YEAR

Post-Dispatch Investigation of 49 Estates Shows Tax Returns Are Far Below Inventories.

CITY'S LOSS ESTIMATED AT $10,000,000 ANNUALLY

Parkways, River Front Improvements and Other Civic Betterments Could Be Quickly Had if Tax Laws Were Rigidly Enforced.

In a recent speech before the City Club of St. Louis, Circuit Judge Divelbiss of Richmond, Mo., said he made the discovery that tax-dodging was a common practice by comparing the inventories of the estates of men who had died with the personal tax returns they made while living. Acting upon the information which he thus discovered, Judge Divelbiss instructed the grand juries of the three counties comprising his district to institute a searching inquiry into tax-dodging and return indictments for violations of the law. An ir.crease of $5,000,000 in personal tax returns of the three counties resulted from his efforts.

Judge Divelbiss suggested that similar prosecutions in St. Louis would result in an increase of more than $100,000,000 in the personal tax returns

The Post-Dispatch, following the suggestions made by Judge Divelbias compared the inventories of 49 St. Louis estates (listed in the access ing table), taken at random from the files of the Probate Court, with last personal tax return made by the former owners of these estates to the Assessor. The Post-Dispatch's inquiry has been confined to estates because it is only after an inventory of an estate is filed that an authentic record of the value of an individual's personal property is available for public inspec-

Only by legal proceedings can the true and total value of the personal property of living persons be ascertained.

The aggregate par value of the taxable personal property listed in these 49 inventories was $10,528,914.23, while the aggregate tax return made by the owners of these estates while they were living was $2,012,990.

City Lost $206,887 Annually in Revenue, The investigation revealed the startling fact that taxable personal property of these estates, having an aggregate par value of $8,798,787.67, The loss of revenue to the city, based upon the par value of the securities owned by these 49 estates, without regard to their market value, was $206.887.55. Considering these 49 estates as a unit, the property returned for taxation amounted to less than one-fifth of the taxable personal property listed in the inventories.

Eliminating the unusual return made by James Campbell the last year of his life, the other 48 estates show that their former owners returned for taxation less than one-tenth of the personal taxable property they owned at the time of their death.

The value of the personal property on which taxes will be collected in St. Louis this year as shown by the Assessor's book is $97,888,840. The value of the real estate on which taxes will be collected is $494,342,890.

Four-Fifths of Property Escapes Taxation.

The figures developed by the investigation of the 49 estates indicate that at least four-fifths of the personal property of St. Louis escapes taxation. The figures of the 48 estates, with the Campbell estate e indicate that nine-tenths of the taxable personal property of St. Louis capes taxation. The Campbell return is unusual, as it was only di the last two or three years of his life that he made anything like a full return on his property. In 1911, for instance, his return was only $179,530.

If only four-fifths of the personal property is escaping taxation, a strict enforcement of the law requiring a full return would bring the personal tax AMERICAN LINER returns up to $489,444,200, and if nine-tenths of the personal property is exaping taxation, as these figures more clearly indicate, a full return word bring the taxable personal property up to the enormous total of $978,888,400.

What would that mean to the city? City Revenue Would Be Enormously Increased.

An assessment of $489,444,200, at the present rate of 2.35, would produce annually $11,001,988 of revenue. An assessment of $978,888,400 would produce $22,003,877 annually-enough to pay off the entire bonded indebtedness of the city. But if the personal tax assessment should be increased only five-fold the amount of revenue in a single year would be more than sufficient to build the proposed Parkway from Twelfth street to Grand avenue. ten-fold increase in the assessment should be realized, not only could the Parkway be built, but the vast river front improvements in contemplation for the future, could be realized from the income of a single year. Or, the assessment of personal property at its true value, would result in a reduction of the rate of taxation by one-half, thus relieving the owners of homes and other real estate in St. Louis of at least one-half of their tax burdens. This would result in a material reduction in rents. The Post-Dispatch's investigation indicates that tax dodging is gen-in St. Louis and that the rich, the moderately well-to-do and poor al-evade taxes by failing to make a true return on the value of their sonal property. The tax returns indicate that there is less than $100 worth of furniture in the homes of the well-to-do classes of St. Leuis, and less than $1000 worth in many homes in the very rich.

The inventories of the estates investigated by the Post-Dispatch list ble securities at the par value and no record is made of their market The inventories do not show that any of the taxable personal property was outside of the State, nor that any of it was not taxable in St. Louis, gh there is a possibility that some of these securities may have been on of the State at the time the returns were made, or may have been pledged le of the State to secure leans. So far as the inventories themselves indicate, practically all of these securities were in St. Louis, and were, therefore, subject to assessment here.

The inventory of the estate of Adolphus Busch shows that at the time of 16 death, Oct. 10, 1913, he had $786,134.49 in cash. His personal tax return, signed by his son, August A. Busch, June 7,1913, listed $105,000 in cash. The inventory shows $2,066,999,18 in notes, and the tax return $30,000; the inventory lists $2,272,683.19 in bonds, and the tax return, $550,000; the inventory of goods and chattels is for $17,254.20, while the tax return is for $25,000. According to the inventory, he had $4,435,071.00 in taxable personal property not accounted for in his tax return.

Revelations in the Campbell Est ate Inventory.

The tax return of James Campbell is the only one of the 49 which is in excess of the inventory of taxable personal property. The inventory of the estate shows $123,707,12 in cash, $89,362.45 in notes, $462,168.74 in bonds and $1313.15 in goods and chattels, total $676,551.46. The tax return is for $9350 in cash, $1,056,000 in bonds, and $33,500 in goods and chattels total $1,098,830.

The inventory of the estate of E. O. Stanard, compared with the tax return which he made Nov. 17, 1913, reveals an amazing difference between the personal taxable property that he owned at the time of his death and the amount he returned for taxation.

The inventory shows that he had $931,315.88 in cash at the time of his death, while his tax return lists only $32,000. The inventory shows $156,000 worth of bonds, but none is listed in the tax return. He owned $1,054,765.38 in personal property not listed for taxation, according to the records.

The books of the Assessor's office fail to show that George P. Whitelaw, the millionaire founder of the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co., made any personal tax return for 1912 and 1913. Deputy Assessors made repeated effort to serve him with assessment notices at the hotel at which he lived, but without success.

Although he made no return of personal property, his inventory shows that he had at the time of his death, $49,481 in cash, $114,750 in notes, mostly of the Polar Wave Company, and $281,400 in taxable bonds. He had $300,000 in nontaxable United States bonds, $25,000 in city bonds, which are taxable under the laws of the State, but which for reasons of policy are not taxed in St. Louis.

The inventory also shows $418,500 in stocks. Whitelaw's personal prop erty, as shown by the inventory, taxable under the laws of the State, wa $445.631.13. Had he paid taxes on this property, at its par value, he would have contributed $10,271 to the revenues of the city each year, in addition to whatever he paid on his real estate.

sed Had Adolphus Busch paid taxes on the full value of his personal prop erty, as shown by the inventory, he would have contributed $104,224 more to the city revenue than he did on the personal tax return that he made, in addition to his real estate taxes. Stanard's personal tax bill would have been $24,786 in excess of what it was if he had returned the amount of property shown by his inventory.

But a study of the tables will show at a glance that discrepancies be ween inventories and tax returns are not confined to the millionaire class.

The list contains the name of one preacher, the late Rev. William B. Palmore, widely known as a Methodist minister, traveler, lecturer and crusader, who died, leaving taxable personal property of a par value of $32,391.95. The Assessor's books fail to show that he made a return of

Made No Return, but Had $53,000.

Investigation of estates worth anywhere from $15,000 to $200,000 show gross discrepancies between tax return and inventory. In many cases no returns whatever were made, while the majority of them made returns for less than $1000, A striking example of the well-to-do citizen who made returns on his texable personal property is shown by the inventory of the William L. Balson estate. Although he had personal property of a par Hungarian right flank. value of $53,053.62, taxable under the laws of the State, he made no return.

In a number of instances, notably that of Mrs. Christina B. Graham, the Assessor himself was compelled to make the return. When no return made the Assessor usually doubles the last return. Mrs. Graham was assessed under this rule for $12,000, but her inventory shows that she had personal property, of par value, taxable under the laws af the State, aggreating $188,401.54. Among the group of people having taxable personal property worth in the neighborhood of $250,000, the late Mrs. Eliza A. How is the only one who made a return for any considerable amount. Although her return was for $70,610, the inventory of her estate shows that she owned taxable securities and property of par value of $263,930.97.

No Decoration Conferred for Sinking of Lusitania

LONDON, June 22. DISPATCH to the Exchange A Telegraph Co. from Copen-hagen says official announcement has been made in Berlin that no order of merit has been conferred on any submarine commander for sinking of the Lusitania.

By Associated Press. BERLIN, via London, June 22.—The administration of the Berlin Tages Zeitung that it would have to suspend by that newspaper on the subject of German-American relations from the pen of Count von Reventlow.

The action of the German authorities is regarded here as an indication that the Government is weary of seeing its relations with America made more strained by journalistic outgivings such as those of Count von Reventlow. The article in question followed the wellknown lines of that writer, who asserted that international law must be disregarded in the conduct of submarine

Pontiff Tells Interviewer Future Is Dark and Hour for Negotiations Has Not Yet Come-Grieves at Horrors of Lusitania Disaster.

PARIS, June 22—La Liberte publishes an interview with Pope Benedict, signed by Louis Latapie, a prominent nember of the staff, who was sent to Rome for the purpose of ascertaining The interviewer then mentioned the effect of the war on the Hely Sewhether the Pope was free and whether under the law of guarantees, his hold ness could exercise freely and completely his mission in the world.

The Pope replied that there was a need of concealing that the interests the Holy See had been considered as the Pope's view on the various aspects of the European war. Pope Benedic is quoted as expressing horror at some of the developments of the war, but in the main the words of the Pope have to do with peace.

The interview began with an allusion by the Pontiff to what the Holy See had done in respect to the war. The Pontiff had addressed a letter in favor of peace to the Catholic world. He had German authorities today informed the proposed a truce to the belligerents for administration of the Berlin Tages Zeithe Christmastide. He had endeavored to obtain an exchange of prisoners un fitted for military service and had had publication for an indefinite period on account of the recent article published spect an appreciable result. His Holiness referred to the letter h

M. Latapie quotes the Pope as say

"You desire that I should conde every crime specifically, but each one of your accusations is accompanied by a reply on the part of the Germans and I am not able to institute here a continuous discussion, nor can I make investigations at this "Is it necessary to inquire as to whether the neutrality of Belgium has been violated?" asked the corre-"That was under the pontificate of

"I have received from Austrian Bishops assurance that the Russian army also has taken hostages from among the Catholic priests and that the Russians, on one occasion, pushed before them 1500 Jews so that they could advance behind this living barrier, thus exposed to the bullets of the enemy. The Bishop of Cremona has informed me that the Italians have already taken 18 Austrian priests as hostages.

"There are so many excesses that I have issued an admonition in my enevelical declaring: "'It is permitted to no person,

To this the Pope replied: "The Car-dinal Secretary of State received the reports of seven Belgian congrega tions. They have declared that they are not able to cite a single case in their congregations protected especially by the Virgin or by some Saint.

We continue to be imperfectly informed upon this subject." Cites the Germans Defense.
"And the burning of Louvain and the bombardment of churches?" "The Germans reply that their troops have been fired upon," Pope made answer. "They have declared that there was an observatory in the tower of the cathedral at Rheims. With reference to Louvain, I have already given orders concerning it. We shall assist in restoring the cathedrals. Is there need to say that we condemn with all our force such things? Every shot fired upon the cathedral of Rheims was felt in my heart."

The Pope struck his breast and added: "But the hour has not yet come to disentangle the truth from all the contradictory assertions, which surround it. The Vatican is not a court. We do not give judgment; the Judge is on high.

"At least one can protest against the arrest of a prince of the church," ventured the correspondent "I shall surprise you; Cardinal Mercier (Archbishop of Malines) has never been arrested," replied the Pope. "He can go about his diocese as he pleases. I have received from Gen. von Bissing, Governor of Belgium, a letter assuring me that he would repress hereafter with the utmost energy all acts of violence against the church and against the minister of God."

The Pope then referred to the sink-ing of the Lusitania, and is reported

"I do not know of a more frightful transaction. What grief to see our generation the prey of such horrors. I have the heart of a father and this heart has been torn. But what do you think of the blockade, which constricts two empires, which concents. Is that inspired also by feelings entirely humane?" May Condemn War's Crimes.

The Pope continued: "I do not say that after the war I will no proclaim a syllabus recalling and summing up the doctrines of the church on this subject and regulating for the future the rights and duties of belligerents. Then one will find without doubt the formal con committed during the war."

President Understood to Have Made Up Mind, but Matter Is Not Brought Up at Cabinet.

WASHINGTON. June 21—Although resident Wilson was understood last light virtually to have decided on the ppointment of Robert Lansing as Secappointment of Robert Lansing as Sec-retary of State to succeed William Jen-nings Bryan, and it was expected the matter would be discussed with the Cabinet today, the subject was not brought up at the meeting. White House officials refused to make any statement on the subject further than to say that it is still under consid-than to say that it is still under consideration.

Mr. Lansing was at the White House during the day and had a long talk with Secretary Tumulty. He would not discuss his visit, and later left for Hamilton, N. Y., to attend commencement exercises at Colgate University and receive an honorary degree.

The President plans to leave here late Wednesday night for New York, where he will spend Thursday with Col. E. M. House before going to the "summer white house" at Cornish, N. H. It has been considered likely that he would discuss the question of Mr. Bryan's successor with Col. House before making an announcement, but last night there was said to be a possibility that the appointment might be made today.

Col. House himself has been prominently mentioned for the position, and many officials think he could have it if he would accept it. He has always refused to accept public offices, however. It has been pointed out, too, that Col. House is from Texas and two of the present members of the Cabinat—Attornay-General Gregory and Postmastere-General Burleson—are from the same

Crowds Gathered in Atlanta and Marched to Slaton Estate - Anger Finally Turns to Humor and They Sing Songs of the Day.

By Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 22.—Two battalions of Georgia militia and the Governor's horse guards, under the personal command of Adjutant-General Nash, are patrolling today the country estate of Gov. Staton, near here. The troops were called out after a crowd of several hundred men and boys had marched there late last night and made a demonstration in protest against the commutation of Leo M. Frank's death sentence to life imprisonment.

The crowd was quickly dispersed by the soldiers after the Governor had de-clared the section within half a mile of his home under martial law. Quiet prevailed today, both at the Officials of the State and city insisted that last night's demonstration probably had ended the possibility of any menace to the Governor by that personal most bitterly opposed to the commutation of Frank's sentence. A state of preparedness was maintained today, however, both by the police and the military authorities.

The calm in the city today, in striking contrast to the tension of yesterday, apparently was welcomed by the majority of residents. The local newspapers gave very little space to the case.

Twenty-four persons were arrested the neighborhood of the Slaton home.

They were mostly young men, some without occupation, while some said they were clerks. All were held on a charge of failing to "move on." None

No Arrangement to Protest.
So far as can be learned, no arrangement has been made for an organized protest against the Governor's action. The impromptu mass meeting at the capital yesterday, when resolutions were passed condemning the Governor, seemed to appease the wrath of those immediately concerned.

The Governor's "mansion" provided by the State is an ancient dwelling in the heart of the city. Gov. Slaton has not occupied the old house, preferring his own beautiful estate some four or five miles from the city. This distance did not deter the demonstrants last night once they had determined to make the "cail."

The size of the crowd overawed the small police detachment, and it was then that the Governor issued his martial law order and called out the militia. The citizen soldiers arrived at his home by special trolley cars and in the Governor's grounds. Burbed entanglements had been stretched as the driveways and along the ends just within the enclosing walls

"No defendant within my recol-the trial Judge and affirmed by the Supreme Court of Georgia. "Repeated efforts to have the judg-ment set aside have been denied by the State Supreme Court, the United States District Court and the Supreme Court of the United States.

"With the unbroken record of all guilty of the heinous crime with which he was charged, influential friends of Frank appealed to the State Board of Pardons elected by the people to pass on applications for pardons and commutations to be considered by the chief executive of the Stafe, and the Pardon Board sustained the courts of justice and declined to recommend the applica-tion for a commutation.

'Third Degree" of Negro Casts Suspicion on One Man as Slayer of Warden's Wife.

JOLIET, Ill., June 22.-Officials of th enitentiary here expect that the name of the convict who murdered the wife of Warden Allen Sunday morning will be known today.

"Chicken Joe" Campbett, the negr rusty, who has been the principal suspect in the case, gave the information which the prediction was based. At midnight Deputy Warden Ryan and four other prison officials entered Campbell's cell. The negro was badly shaken by his treatment, but, according to Ryan, did not confess.

"For two hours we gave him the third degree," said Ryan, "and he told us enough to center suspicion on one man."

A Post-Dispatch reputer was told by a majority of the trustes who had charge of the fund that they did not vote for the distribution of it. The only trustee who admitted voting for the distribution was Patroiman Fred Mert. When a reporter asked Mertz why he wanted the fund divided, Mertz said "it was nobody's d— business." "We had a right to the money and we took it. If anybody don't like it they can go to blazes," he said.

Patroiman Adamson, former Detective Erwin, former City Treasurer Keating and former Comptroller Boismenue, who formed a majority of the board of trustees, said they were opposed to dividing the fund. Mertz said that he, Erwin, Adamson and Detective Green held a meeting last week and decided to divide it. Erwin and Adamson denied that there was a meeting.

GOVERNMENT HAS WORKED IN CARRYING ON BIG WARS

From Days of Elder Pitt Down to Indian Mutiny No Great Campaign Was Begun and Completed by Same Men

To learn at first hand how England is standing the war pressure, the Post-Dispatch sent to that country a staff member well equipped for the work. The cost of living, the labor question and other vital matters were nvestigated by him thoroughly, and he has returned to America with the first authentic information on points of greatest interest.

By EWAN JUSTICE. With the members of the Coalition Cabinet barely settled in their respective departments, there are many influential persons in London who believe that a sturdy opposition will develop within the next few months. One of the principal reasons why Winston Churchill was retained, according to London gossip, was that the party leaders feared that if he were not included in the Cabinet he would immediately form the nucleus of an opposition party.

The public hopes conditions will improve under the new Cabnet. It believes that, with all parties represented and responsible for the nation's welfare, better results will be obtained and captious criticism will cease. Those who have been accustomed to work a party system, or to watch it ut close range, are inclined perhaps to exaggerate the difficulties.

The Opposition has had always the privilege of criticising the Government, under the restraining sense that, if its criticism prevailed, it would have the But, when it became inevitable, he no responsibility of forming an alternative longer hesitated, and he succeeded in ministry. Teries is Pewer 23 Years.
Two years later Pitt died. A short-lived Whig ministry with two Tory members followed, and then in March, 1807, the Duke of Portland, who had led the Whig succession at the beginning of the war and had been in office practically ever since, came into the leading place as a Tory Prime Minister with a Tory Cabinet. The war was carried on by Portland and Perceval and Liverpool, all Tory Premiers, from 1807 until its cenclusion, in 1815; it was not, in fact, until 1830 that the Whigs again came into office.

At the opening of the Crimean War Lord Aberdeen was in office with a consistion ministry of Whigs and Peelites. Besides Aberdeen himself, the Peelites had four representatives—Gladstone, Graham, the Duke of Newcastle and Sidney Herbert. Palmerston, Russell and Lord Clarendon also were in the ministry.

it was a strong Cabi-Individually it was a strong Cabi-net, and as far as concerned domestic polic seems to have been much of one mind. But in war policy it did not pull together. The Prime Minister and most of the Cabinet were anxious to keep the peace. Palmerston, Russell and New-castle were strongly in favor of war,

Lord Clarendon was Foreign Secre-tary and his dispatches "attempted but vainly to bring the two policies into harmony." Clarendon might have been more successful if Lord Aberdeen had not revised the dispatches according to

Roebuck, a member of the House of Commons, put through a ion for a committee to inquire ato the mismanagement of the war. Next day Lord Russell sent in his resignation, with a contemptuous remark that "he did not see how the motion ould be resisted." The fate of the lovernment was sealed, but it had the irage to face the House and was lefeated by a majority of 157.

Country Without Cabinet.

Although the Aberdeen ministry was hopelessly discredited, it was found to be no easy matter to put another Government in its place, and the country remained without a Cabinet for nearly a week, notwithstanding that the country was in the midst of a difficult and Lord Derby, a Conservative, was and proached by the Queen, and he tried to organize a ministry with Whigs and to organize a ministry with Whiga and Peelites as well as his own followers. Palmerston, Galdstone and Sidney Herbert were willing to become members, but only on their own terms, and Lord Derby was not satisfied with them. He told the Queen their offer of "independent support" reminded him of the definition of an independent member of Parliament as "one who could be depended upon." pended upon."

Lord Lansdowne (Whig) was then approached, but declined on account of eager to fill the breach, found on assing that no one would serve under him The Queen was forced to go to Lord Palmerston, who in a short time fixed up a Cabinet that, except for the exclusion of Aberdeen, Newcastle and Russell, was practically identical with its predecessor. It still remained a coalition of Whigs and Peelites; but a fortnight sufficed to discourage the latter group and they seceded.

The reconstructed ministry lasted long enough to conclude the war, to settle the terms of peace and to see the country practically to the end of John Hays Hammond Jr.'s Adaptation of Thermit Appropriated for Zeppelin Bombs.

By STERLING E. EDMUNDS, ecturer on International Law at the St. Louis University Law School. Investigations that have followed the recent Zeppelin raids upon London re veal that the Germans have appropriated the incendiary shell which John Hays Hammond Jr. was declared to have invented a few months ago.

In the earlier raids upon English towns the Germans used a high explosive bomb, but the English authorities have discovered from the fragments of missiles recently dropped that they are incendiary purely

The contents of the bomb is thermit which generates a degree of heat second only to that of the electric arc. It is in dle at the top, and weighs perhaps 30 $1.00 Horlick Malted Milk...6be

Thermit is the trade name for a mix ture of powdered aluminum and mag-netic iron oxide. From the time of its discovery in 1898 by a German chemist named Goldschmidt, it has been use in the welding of iron and steel and in repairing broken steel castings.

In the bomb, fragments of which show the Krupp trade mark, there is a mag-nesium cap which ignites the mixture upon impact. The oxygen leaves that aluminum, producing a slag which rises reason of its intense heat of nearly 5000 degrees, slips through the bottom of the iron shell that had inclosed it, setting fire to everything combustit that it touches.

It was this principle that young Hammond recently applied to a projectile for naval guns, maintaining that such s shell, striking a battleship, would very plate and all, and set fire to the vessel It is significant that, following so soon upon the published reports of Hammond's adaptation, the Germans should be found to have begun the manufacture of such missiles for their aerial warfare.

Condemned by the English The English authorities are condemn ng the use of this bomb as a barbarous eapon and certainly its use is conrary to the laws of war unless the ob ject of destruction be military headquarters, depots, arsenals and the like, as distinguished from mere private prop-

The London Times, from which comes the information of the Germans' use of themrit, prints further information of a new incendiary weapon said to be in process of manufacture at Essen. NO SIGN OF EUROPEAN PEACE. PRESIDENT TO TAKE A REST

WASHINGTON, June 22.-President Vilson will leave Washington Wednesday midnight for Cornish, N. H., where he intends to remain until July 5, unless developments in the European situation essitate his presence in Washington in the meantime. Col. E. M. House, who returned re-cently from Europe, is expected to meet the President's train when it arrives in New York Thursday morning, and it is probable he will give the President a first-hand report of the situation in the rincipal warring countries. The Presient may decide to invite Col. House to go with him to Cornish. Since his return from Europe Col. House has talked with the President over the long-distance telephone and has sent to him a comprehensive report cov ering interviews he has had with leaders in Germany, France and England. As far as can be ascertained, the President has little grounds for believing that peace prospects are likely to be bright in the near future. It is under stood that Col. House has reported that he found no reason for believing that any of the belligerents are willing to discuss peace at this time upon term which would be considered by their an

Realizing the presence in the comm ity of thousands to whom fortune has been less kind, they cheerfully forego the pleasure that might come to them through toys or other childish delights in order to experience that far greater joy that arises from doing deeds of kindness to little ones to whom present fate is ungenerous.

June will shortly be numbered among place among the periods for which ac-counting must be made for the sup-plies of free ice and pure milk furnished the babies in the poor districts of the city. The call for these necessities, if hose bables are to be saved—some of them, perhaps, to be a blessing to future generations—has been excessive, according to the institutions through which free ice and pure milk are pro-vided, while the money on hand to meet the cost is limited.

The Post-Dispatch feels assured that the children of St. Louis, thousands of whom are already enrolled in the Free Ice and Pure Milk League, are not going to permit the lack of funds to in-terfere with the distribution of lifesoving supplies, and that in this the children have the hearty sympathy of their parents and other grown-up people.

The way to avoid this interruption, the result of which may easily prove serious, is to hasten the relief work rather than delay it until what may now be regarded as a more convenient time.

With Beer.

The bar at Priester's Garden, Grand venue and Meramec street, was ordered losed until further notice by Excise ssioner Rumsey today, acting on evidence obtained by the police that eer was sold there on Sunday.

men wearing plain clothes took seats in the garden and asked Bert Kinzle. a waiter, to serve them with a brand of bottled beer. A beverage in steins was placed before them.

The patrolmen drained the steins and ordered two more. Just then a police steins and their contents, and arrested Kinzie and Frank M. Priester, owner of the garden.

tion, in an opinion handed down at Jef-erson City yesterday, decided that the crease its rates on business telephones in St. Louis, but ruled that the rates in a proposed schedule submitted by the company were too high. It directed that a new schedule be submitted not later

$100,000 less than the company's own estimate and approximately $900,000 more than an estimate of experts employed by the commission. At this figure, it was declared the present rates allow for a ment, but that the schedule asked by the company would permit an earning of 7.11 per cent.

The opinion criticised a working agreement between the Bell Telephone Co. and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. whereby the former gives 44. graph Co., whereby the former gives 41/2 arger organization for the use of its instruments and for expert engineering and legal advice. It declared that such an arrangement is evidence of inter-corporate relations.

The telephone company filed its first application for an increased rate with he St. Louis Public Service Commiss n February, 1912. After a valuation of the plant, the St. Louis Commission de-cided it was entitled to an increase. The State Commission succeeded the St.
Louis Commission, so a new application and schedules of the proposed increase were filed Dec. 2, 1913. It has been held up until the whole question could be inthe present ruling.

Reds May Release High-

priced Players Who Are

A STORY printed here, which President Herrmann of the Reds would neither confirm nor deny, is that two long-termed contract-holders were to be let out as a means of cutting down expenses. This move is said to be the beginning by the major leagues of an attack on the long-termed, high-salaried contracts of players, given to keep them from, jumping to the Federals.

The point to be contend-ed is this: Can a club be held to its heavy terms unless the player renders in return services such as are commensurate with money received?

received?

It was intimated that Red Ames, Cincinnati pitcher, is one of the Reds to go and that the other is Von Kolnitz, utility fielder.

The contemplated move of the majors is said to be based on the belief that the Federals have played their high cards, and that the other leagues have nothing further to fear from the independents.

ET'S understand one another right here and now and agree on one thing, to wit: R. Hamilton Hyatt (that's "Hambone") isn't superstitious. No, siree, never can it be said that Ham is a member o the Filbert family on this nutty stuff about spooks, jinx and spells.

Ham will walk under a ladder, behind a black cat or through a funeral. He will look squarely into the eye of a wagon load of empty barrels or a crosseyed red-haired, frowsy-headed street urchin and then go out there and get his usual quota of base hits. In short, nothing feates Ham, but—Hambone DOES play a hunch, now and then. Never does or did he believe in signs; but he allows as how ever so often darn funny things happen that are amazingly similar to events that transpired in the dim past.

Take this, for instance: When Ham played his first major league ball, he joined the Vancouver (B. C.) club, in 1998. The previous year Vancouver finished last. Ham's first year with the club was productive of a pennant.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Now that the longest day of the year is past and the time between sunrise and sunset has begun to narrow, the Fielders promise to try to pick up a little in their playing and do some better. They hope to make it 1 straight wins this afternoon, and Bob Groom, in all likelihood, will be elected to lead the St. Louisans to the lucky number.

Upham or Marion will oppose him. Marion trimmed the St. Louisans the last time they were here; but the wearers of the blue and white look, somehow, to be a different ball club. There are some rough edges yet to nave done a little better than you expected."

You sure have, Ham. You've knocked a lot of 'em off their chairs.
Ham's really old enough to have confidence. He owns up to 31 summers, but like that other great hitter, Gavvv Cravath, he started late. He played his first game with Vancouver in 1903. He was 4 then. He was born Dec. 31, 1838, in Asheville, N. C. Now his home is in Asheville, N. C. Now his home is in Asheville, N. C. Now his home is in Asheville, The the started late. He was something to say about that, thank you. In the off season Ham's a wholesale butcher. There's nothing retail about him. He sells hams. Hence, "Hambone." His first name is Robert, but nobody knows it since Jack Roche began coaching around first base. Haven't you ever heard Jack yell: "Hang in there, Hambone." How "Bones" Are Made.

'The incident came in the third when Hartley, first up, hit a tremendous wallop to the left field fence. He had rounded second and was half way to third when Cooper threw the ball into Smith, who had run out to take the throw. As a matter of fact, Hartley was probably a little closer to third than second, but instead of going on he dug his spikes into the dirt, brought himself up short and went tearing back to second as hard as he could pelt. Smith muffed the throw and had Hartley gone on he would not only have easily reached third, but he might even have been able to seers. Under any circumstances there were none out, and he would sertainly have been able to score before the side was retired.

His mistake resulted in Deal being ordered to sacrifice and he laid down abunt on which he reached first. Of course had. Hartley reached third Deal would have been ordered to hit it out, and as he got a hit every time up, including two doubles, it was dollars to dimes he could have brought Hartley home, if with nothing better than a sacrifice fly.

As Johnson fanned and Davenport sent only a weak grounder to Megee, Hartley was being thrown out. He did not even make a demonstration toward home and cause confusion around second that would give Deal a chance to return toward home and cause confusion around second that would give Deal a chance to the to the sack.

Don't Risk the Family Plate, Yet. LD MAN DOPE, author of that justly celebrated treatise on "Why Baseball Figures Lie, Instead of Standing Up," was busy investigating his pet theory that the Gallatin Squash is still some pumpkins, when there came a knock at the door of his Parlors of Baseball Clairvoyance.

when there came a knock at the door of his Parlors of Baseball Clairvoyance. Knocking never disturbed Dope; so he bade the visitor enter and explain himself.

"I want your help," began the intruder. "Of late the strangest feeling comes over me daily. Under its spell I feel convinced, that the Cardinals are going to win the National League pennant."

"I see—your mind is failing. But be cheerful; it's not incurable. What other hallucination have you?"

"Something seems to urge me to go to the safe deposit vault, get out the family plate and bet it on the Cardinals to win the world's champlonship."

"I get you—what you need is a bone specialist."

"Your diagnosis is all wrong. Mr. Dope. There's nothing the matter with me. I came to get you to show me some figures encouraging me in my view about the Cardinals whose the cardinals."

"Young man," replied the old scout, "there's only one thing you can take that will stop this trouble you're afflict-"I get you—what you need is a bone specialist."

"Your diagnosis is all wrons, Mr. Dope. There's nothing the matter with me. I came to get you to show me some figures encouraging me in my view about the Cardinals' winning the flag."

"Young man," replied the old scout, "there's only one thing you can take that will stop this trouble you're afflicted with—that is poison. If you want to do your friends a real service, take it now." . . . The Real Facts About the Cards.

LEARN," said Old Man Dope, discussing the situation later, "that the Cardinals are now quoted at 3 to 1 by one bookmaker in the pennant future books. This is the first evidence have ever encountered of a bookmaker with a weak mind. Here's the situation:

"One club is ahead of the P ROF. DOPE'S treatment of the above case is coarse. It is be-

Where O. M. Dope Stands.

B UT why don't you loosen up and tell us just where this pennant proposition stands?" suggested of Dope's victims. "You're always ing on the Braves—do you think 're going to repeat?" "I will answer that question," replied Dope, "by saying that the hardest job of a Miracle Man is to live up to his reputation. The nothing that isn't right and then the M. M. boobs it and upsets his bacon.

"Take Mr. Stallings. Ever since last season closed he has devoted his time to RUINING the Miracle he built up last year.

Miracle Man Boots One.

THERE'S the case of Deal, who in the world's series, and who gave in the world's series, and who gave him the needed reserve infield strength required of every pennant factor—Stallings refused Deal a slight raise in salary and now Charley is showing the way for the St. Louis Feds. For the past three weeks Deal has batted over .400 and yesterday—well, four hits out of four times up is pretty good. In addition, he was a known star as a defensive player. Yet for $500 Stallings weak-ened his club by such a star.

Stallings Boots Another.

A GAIN, take the case of Sherwood A Nottingham Magee, the prize jinx of baseball, who hurt the Philadelphia club's chances of winning a pennant on several occasions. Sherrie's habits were known quantities; and it was a by-word with reporters and inside baseball persons that he was a disorgenizer. Yet Stallings took him on and thought he had won a prize.

"He wants to trade or give him away, now, but can't afford to, because he let go of Whitted and Mann, his best reserve

"Show me a man they paste a "Miracle' label on and I'll show you a man riding to a fall.
"That isn't saying George is going to lose the pennant this year—I've quit guessing about such things. But the instances cited will show you that there is nothing in baseball that talks, on whose judgment you can place absolute reliance."

With no major league baseball for St. Louis this week, a benefit game will be played at Robison Field tomorrow afternoon.

The proceeds will go to Jack Crooks, who played second base for the old St. Louis Browns. Donations have been received from Charles Comiskey, John McGraw and others by Pat Tebeau.

Several old-time stars will be in uniform to "cut up," if not to take part in the actual contests tomorrow.

Crooks, was in his prime, in 1883-90, one of the most popular players that ever held a place on a St. Louis club. As second baseman for the old Browns, when Comiskey was in charge, he was known as the "king of second basemen." He is said to have been the first player to receive an offer of a $10,000 annual salary, the war of the Brotherhood costing the price of his services to this hitherto unprecedented figure.

Three years ago Crooks so greatly increased in weight as to be unable to work. He is said to have weighed over 350 pounds. His savings have been exhausted and but for the help of his friends, his wife and adopted child, with himself, might have been evicted.

Crooks expects to be able to get around shortly. Pat Tebeau, formerly of the Cardinal and Cleveland teams, one of the promoters of the affair, says Crooks has lost 150 pounds and will be able to resume his position as salesman.

Michigan Star Pitcher to Join Browns, Friday

Sisler, Reputed the Best College Player Ever, Had Agreed to Go to Pirates.

"Pittsburg is only 4 games out of first place.

"That makes six teams, if we choose to accept conditions on their face, which have a chance equal with or better than that of the Cards, in the championships.

"Therefore, the odds ought to be not less than five or six to one.

Not So Fast, Fans.

WHAT'S the use of saying a club is going to win, at this time of the year, anyhow? You never can tell. New York was last on June i. 1914, while the Braves were last selate as July 18. They finished second and first respectively.

"On the face of things the Cards do APPEAR A BETTER TEAM than last season. The club has gained Bescher and Long, in the outfield, in place of Magec.

"It has found a substitute in Betzel who, right now, is going nicely in the infield.

"Artie Butler has eome through in a manner entirely unexpected after his work last year.

"Best of all, Lee Meadows and Hank Robinson seem to have developed into first-class pitchers.

"But these men will all have to be tested in the July-August turnace before we know they are going to stand up throughout the year. June figures are deceitful."

"I can't see how anyone can convince himself there is a certainty to

John Hancock—"Father of the Revolution"

PON the Declaration of Independence his name may be read without spectacles. His signature was the first subscribed to the world's most famous State document. In the most realistic sense John Hancock pledged his life and his fortune to the cause of the Revolution. He was one of the richest men in the colonies, holding investments in banks, breweries, stores, hotels, and also owning a fleet of vessels. The seizure of one of these precipitated the Boston massacre. In Revolutionary days and until his death he was a popular idol. When it was proposed to bombard Boston, though it would have resulted in greater personal loss to him than to any other property owner, he begged that no regard be paid to him because of his financial interests. While Hancock did not sign the Constitution of the United States, he used his great influence in its behalf, which awakened the gratitude of Washington. "He was prepossessing in manner, and passionately fond of the elegant pleasures of life, of dancing, music, concerts, routs, assemblies, card parties, rich wines, social dinners and factivities." I but the end of his life the nearly of Massachusum delichted to become him. In the stirring averts preceding the festivities." Until the end of his life the people of Massachusetts delighted to honor him. In the stirring events preceding the Revolution he was one of the most active and influential members of the Sons of Liberty. To this titeless worker for American Independence Liberty was the very breath of life. He would have frowned upon any legislation which would restrict the natural eights of man, and would have voted NO to prohibition enactments. It was upon the tenets of our National Spoken Word that Anheuser-Busch 58 years ago founded their great institution. To-day throughout the length and breadth of the Free Republic their honest brews are famed for quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor. Their brand BUDWEISER has daily grown in popularity until 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

His service to the people began during his mayoralty term, when he broke the strangle hold which the Kansas City water and gas companies had upon the city.

His record as Congressman was honorable. As an active and efficient member of various committees, he prevented railroad grabs and upheld sound Democratic policies. Senator Reed said of him: "He possesses not a single element of the pretender or demagogue."

Mr. Cowherd was a man of much independence of character and could not be intimidated by the powerful interests which, because of his thoroughgoing democracy, sought his downfall; nor by the fanatics, who saw in his advocacy of home rule for the cities and of local option evidence of depravity as a statesman. SOLDIER of the allies was dodging German shells; it couldn't have been hotter along the Dardanelles. The gun which did the business was somewhere on the Rhine, but every time it thundered it hit the allies' line. The soldier burrowed deeper within his little trench; he watched the counter missiles responding from the French. The range was something awful for shooting on the fly, and shells as big as barrels were arching through the sky.

The soldier thought of Caesar, who once divided Gaul; he thought of Agan on before the Troja wall. He thought about the progress in military craft, and in the din of battle he actually laughed.

"It won't be long," he reasoned, "until we shoot it all: the Briton on his island, the Frenchman in his Gaul. We'll all set up our cannon upon our native loams, and hammer one another from our respective Speaking of German atrocities, what could surpass the refined cruelty of Herr Eugene Zimmermann, director of the Berlin Lokal-Angelger? Rv recalling that Germany herself caused the rejection at The Hague of a proposal to keep neutrals from selling ammunition to belligerents Herr Zimmermann destroyed the argument of thousands of people who haven't had a thing to say since.

There have always been brave men in the South and one of them is fortunately the Governor of QUR OWN WAR EXPERT.

E have decided to be our own war expert. The other experts have pretty much all quit, and there has been a disposition to believe that the war cannot be experted. Nevertheless, not to have some insight into the future is intolerable. If it were not so we could be happy as pagans and no one would care anything about psychic phenomena. While we cannot be sure of what we see, we must have a look,

That is agreed, then. The Bussians have fallen back on Lemberg, and as soon as the Germans and astrians fall on the Russians the hosts of the Czar will abandon Galicia to the foe. Though nobody has ever smashed the Russians in Russia, the Kaiser evidently believes he can do it. Rid of Russia, he could throw his entire army upon the French and British, leaving Austria to deal with the Italians. As the war is going, Germany is exhausting herself too fast not to have anything coming of it. There are always more Russians. The British can recruit from the world around. But when the allies kill a German, he stave dead, so to speak. That is why the Kaiser is taking a big whirl at the Czar. If he had that bear off his back, he could look after the boys in front in much better fashion.

Can it be done? As our own expert, we don't think so. We think the Kaiser will kill all the Russians he is after, but that more Russians will be on his back the moment he turns around. In our own experting, you may not agree with us. So be it. This is no time for experts to fall out.

The next day Grant and I started for the lake. The heat was stiffling, and, as I was pretty well worn out, I looked forward to my little vacation with pleasure. Jane had written it was delightfully cool up there and even on the hottest days a cool breeze had made it comfortable.

We were very quiet on the trip up. It was too hot on the train even to talk. But when we reached the hotel and had had a bath and change of clothes we felt quite different. Grant was all for exploring the place, and he and Dorothy soon set off. But I felt languid, and the quiet was so restful, so soothing after the noise and bustle of the city, I refused to move, and, taking some chairs, Jane and I sat on the balcony that ran along outside her windows.

Jane appeared rather glad to see me, and little John plainly showed his delight to have "dad" with him. On our way to the dinfing room. I soon saw I had made our way to the dinfing room. ized. It is impossible to devitalize hair with pastes and rub-on preparations, because they only remove hair from the surface of the skin.

De Miracle, the original liquid depilatory, devitalizes hair by attacking it under the skin as well as on the skin. Imitations of De Miracle are as worthless as pastes and rub-on preparations, because they lack certain ingredients that De Miracle alone contains which give it the power to rob hair of its vitality—its life sustaining force.

Buy a bottle of the geuine De Miracle today and you will get the original liquid hair remover. Others are worthless imitations—refuse them. Remember, you are not asked to buy De Miracle on a mere promise of your money being refunded. De Miracle is the only depliatory that has a binding guarantee in each package which entitles you to the refund of your money if it fails.

De Miracle is sold in three sizes, 50c, $1.00 and $2.00 bottles. The larger sizes are the most economical for dermatologists and large users to buy. If your dealer will not supply T is difficult in Germany for a profes

England's New War Long In Well Received.

By Lessed Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"After a rather deaultory show of strength in the early hours, today's stock market grew irregular and fell back to yesterday's prices, or a fraction lower. There was undoubtedly some scattered selling for European account, in both stocks and bonds, and this was naturally ascribed to realizing by English investors preparing to subscribe to the new $1,250,000,000 war loan. But the sales were not large, and hardly gave any definite intimation of a general movement.

"The most curious phenomenon in not large, and harding gave any delinite intimation of a general movement.

"The most curious phenomenon in this matter is that Wall street, instead of shuddering at the mention of 'European liquidation,' as it did last autumn, is at present in the mood to encourage the sale of foreign holdings of our securities instead of a plaintive 'try to prevent such seliing' the word now seems to be 'why does Europe put off its selling? This mood may partly result from increasing belief that the European investor will not sell. But it also certainly reflects in part a feeling that, sooner or later, the bulk of these foreign holdings will come back to us; that we are able to take them with no great inconvenience; that we, as well as Europe, would welcome the resultant stabilizing of exchange on Europe; and, therefore, that the sooner the process is over the better.

"No doubt this cheerful point of

No doubt this cheerful point of would change, if an actually ensive realizing movement were depress the market. But at the mont such is wall street sentiment. Sterling Exchange Firm.

Sterling Exchange advanced nearly possibly in connection with the Britwar loan plans, but more immediate no connection with an abrupt advance fully 1 per cent in London discount is. That rate reached i per cent town which is actually the highest since first week of last September, when strain on the London credit situation was at last relaxed, on the retreat the Germans from the Marne. At time money rates here were ruling far below 8 per cent.

This present rise in the London ney market is in a way recognition the borrowing rate fixed by the new loan. It may be doubted if the rate go much, if any, higher Exchange Serlin declined today to a figure only above the lowest on record. Incitally, the Government's weekly states a strength of the country's excess of chandles exports, last week, to have a $4.55.00 above the week preceding, the largest, with one exception, we the opening of May.

NEW YORK. June 22.—The cotton market opened-steady at an advance of 3 to 8 points on covering by some of yesterday's sellers, who were probably influenced by the steady showing of Liverpool and the appearance of some local bull support. The demand, however, was by no means active and prices soon eased off to within a point or two of last night's closing figures under a renewal of July liquidation and local pressure inspired by the favorable weather map and the outlook for continued clear corditions in the South.

Trading was less active during the middle of the morning, but the market was barely steady, with active months about 8 to 10 points net lower, under continued scattering liquidation. The closing was irregular. Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands, 9.55c; no sales.

JULY WHEAT SELLS AT 1$ IN THE CHICAGO MARKET

IN THE CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, June 22.—For the first time this season wheat prices today went below $1 for the July option as for September. Continued improvement in harvest weather was mainly responsible. On the decline, however, profit-taking by shorts brought about something of a rally. After opening ½c to 2½c down, the market steadied at a range that averaged ic under last night's level.

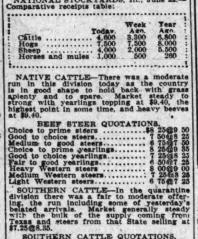

Better field conditions eased off corn. The bears continued also to draw attention to the cheapness of Argentina offers. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c to ½@c lower, were followed by some further declines.

Oats gave way with wheat and corn. Numerous stop-loss orders were uncovered.

Packers' selling weakened provisions. About the only demand was from shorts. Renewal of rains in Kanass led afterward on the part of exporters and millers. The close was unsettled at ½c off to ½ cup. compared with last night.

Subsequently opinions that Argentine cargoes were not low enough to allow any profit except at New York helped to cause a rally in corn. The close was nervous at a shade to ½@ %c under last night.

Milling News.

Milling and Grain News says:
"Favorable harvest weather over Texas, Okishoma and Kansas has increased the activity in the winter wheat fields, and the crop is being gathered more rapidly than was thought possible during the recent unusuril wet weather. Early reports from Texas and Oklahoma indicate yields in line with recent most optimistic estimates. Harvest should be general over the central section of the wheat belt the first of next week. Clear skies and higher temperatures have improved conditions over the corn belt. Spring wheat is making excellent progress and has had ample moisture for some time to come. Frost damage to the crop from recent low temperatures was of minor importance."

shippers' offers.

"In Argentina the weather is favorable, being clear and cold.

"Buenos Ayras wheat closed firm with good export demand. American weakness disregarded. Corn firm, weather favoring quality, but offerings readily absorbed. Freights declined 5s since Friday, assisting business."

The European visible this week shows: Wheat, 80,692,000 bu, against 86,236,000 bu last week, a decrease of 5,544,000 bu. Last week there was a decrease of 2,424,000 bu and last year a decrease of 1,500,000 bu. When the total amounted to 83,100,000 bu.

The Iowa. Crop Report said: "Continued rain and cool weather have already caused considerable injury to crops in Iowa. Wet weather prevented much corn from being planted while much of that that was planted before the rains was drowned out. especially in the fertile bottom lands. Now a continuation of rains will mean that work cannot be done in the fields and serious injury is threatened. Two or three warm dry days, however, may entirely change the situation if they come soon before the fields get too grassy and weedy.

The weather forecast said: "Showers are probable either tonight or Wednesday in Nebraska and Kansas and the western portions of Iowa and Missouri, while fair weather will continue in the balance of this forecast district. The temperature will not change materially in any section."

The Canadian Northern Railway-reports show perfect crop conditions. They are talking a crop of 225,000,000 bu wheat for Western Canada, and 35,000,000 bu for Eastern Canada.
